The Council of the North is a grouping of financially assisted dioceses, which are supported through grants by General Synod. There are 9 dioceses, the Anglican Parishes of the Central Interior and the Archdeaconry of Labrador. They are in sparsely populated areas such as the Arctic, Yukon, Northern and Central Interior British Columbia, Alberta, northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba; northern Ontario, northern Quebec and Newfoundland and Labrador.

In these parts of the country, costs, particularly of travel, are high but financial resources are scarce.

The council comprised of all bishops of the assisted diocese administers the General Synod's grants for northern mission; the council meets twice a year to share information about the unique challenges faced by smaller ministries in the north.

The Bishops of the Council of the North believe that their purpose is, under God, to equip one another in their mission to enormous and thinly populated dioceses; to offer mutual encouragement and pastoral care, hope to the oppressed, and challenge to the complacent. In all they do, they strive to be a sign of the Kingdom of Christ, who makes all things new, and to keep faith with partners in the wider Church who uphold them by their prayers and substance.

Communications for the Council of the North is looked after by their Communications Officer, Ms. Fiona Brownlee. She can be contacted at fbrownlee@national.anglican.ca

The Bishops and other members of the Council would like everyone to pray for all the people and clergy in the area of the Council of the North. Remember our challenges of travel, language, isolation, and training. Pray that God will be with each of us as we share the Good News of Jesus Christ in our communities.

We, who are many, are one body in Christ and Individually members one of another.
Romans 12:5

Message from the Chair

“The Scriptures say “We, who are many, are one body in Christ and individually members one of another.” - Romans 12:5

No where in the Canadian church is this interdependence in the Gospel more evident than in the way in which we work together to provide pastoral and sacramental ministry to the remote and isolated areas of our vast nation. The work of the Council of the North is truly the work of the whole church by the whole church.

We who minister in the communities of the Council of the North, are grateful to those who walk with us and rejoice in our partnership together.”

Bishop David Ashdown
Chair, Council of the North
January, 2010

The Diocese of Keewatin was founded in 1902 when it was ceded from the then large Diocese of Rupert’s Land. Keewatin is the third largest diocese in the Anglican Church of Canada - taking up much of northwestern Ontario and northeastern Manitoba. The diocese is home to five language groups: Oji-Cree, Cree, Dene, Ojibway and English. The diocese has 48 parishes with 90 clergy (most of whom are non-stipendiary) serving the people of these parishes.

Pray for David Ashdown, Bishop of Keewatin, Hugh Matheson, Dean of Keewatin, Larry Beardy, Archdeacon of Keewatin, Gordon Swanson, Archdeacon of Northern Manitoba, Pat Cleghorn, Archdeacon of the Southern Region, Alex Fox, Archdeacon of Northern Ontario and Lydia Mamakwa, Administrative Archdeacon of Northern Ontario and for all the leadership of the diocese. As the people of diocese begin to discern where the Spirit is leading them in changing structures to fit the needs of mission and ministry pray for the people in the parishes who are doing this work. Pray also for the students and staff of the Dr. William Winter School of Ministry in Kingfisher Lake, ON.

Archdeaconry of Labrador
In the Diocese of Eastern Newfoundland and Labrador
February, 2009

The Archdeaconry of Labrador is the largest geographical area of the Diocese of Eastern Newfoundland and Labrador and the most sparsely populated part of the diocese. There are 6 parishes in the archdeaconry and 8 clergy and lay leaders who pastor and minister there. The Diocese of Eastern Newfoundland and Labrador was formed in 1976 when the three diocese formed from the one Diocese of Newfoundland. Within the archdeaconry is a multi-cultural society with 3 main aboriginal groups: Inuit, Innu and Labrador Metis.

Pray for Bishop Cy Pitman, for the clergy and people of the archdeaconry. Remember their ministry to those who are very isolated from each other. Pray for the Labrador Planning and Strategy Conference that meets each winter and for the annual Labrador Anglican Youth Gathering which takes place each fall and give thanks this year for our partnership ministry with the Moravian people of the Labrador North Coast. Pray also for the Winter Meeting of the Council which takes place this month in Edmonton.
The Diocese of Caledonia was founded in 1879 and takes up much of Northwestern British Columbia. There are 19 parishes in the diocese which serves 30 congregations. There are 24 active clergy in the diocese who serve the people of the diocese. The First Nations cultures of the diocese are rich in diversity; including Haida, Nisgaa, Tsminian, and Gitsan.

Pray for Bishop William Anderson, the people and clergy of the diocese as they seek to be faithful in living the Great Commission.

The Diocese of Athabasca
December, 2008

Founded in 1874 the Diocese of Athabasca covered a large, sparsely populated area, comprising the northern third of the land mass of Alberta. This area has moved from one that was initially settled to take advantage of access to a lucrative fur trade, to become one of the most economically diverse areas in Canada. The Diocese of Athabasca has had to adapt from reaching out to small scattered communities, to meeting the spiritual needs of a population involved in the development of huge oil and gas reserves, mixed farming and ranching, the lumber industry and communities experiencing tremendous pressure from boom time expansion. To meet these challenges the diocese has 37 congregations served by 21 clergy. Included in this ministry are four congregations that are in shared ministry relationships with our fellow followers of Christ in the United Church and ELCIC traditions. In addition, an Anglican Priest is involved in full time ministry with the On Eagles Wings Ecumenical Fly In Ministry program.

We give thanks to God for providing for our needs in ministry over the past year. We ask your prayers for us as we address the new needs of the diocese as we seek to open up new areas in which we can proclaim the gospel message. We also seek your prayers of support as we continue to develop our mission of becoming a “Diocese of Mission” rather than being a “Mission Diocese”. Finally we ask you to pray for the diocesan administration as they seek to continue to make the Anglican Presence in Northern Alberta a vibrant and living one in these challenging times: The Rt. Rev’d. John R. Clarke, Donna Meeres Diocesan Secretary Treasurer, The Very Rev’d. Dr. Iain Luke, Diocesan Dean, and The Ven. Daryle L. Kerr, Diocesan Executive Archdeacon.
The Diocese of Brandon was founded in 1913 and incorporated in 1925. It takes up the western half of the province of Manitoba. The parishes in the south are primarily in farming communities and the parishes in the north are primarily resource based and mostly Cree. There are 28 parishes in the diocese who care for 56 congregations. There are 32 clergy in the diocese of which a third are non-stipendiary. The diocese is home to the Henry Budd College for Ministry in The Pas; a place where people come to be trained for lay and ordained ministry.

Pray for Bishop Jim Njegovan and for the Synod office staff. Pray for the co-coordinators of Henry Budd College; Marion Jenkins and Paul Sodtke and for the College Board as it continues to discern the College’s future. Pray for the congregations and clergy of the diocese as they seek to provide a faithful Anglican witness in small, rural and remote communities.

The Diocese of Quebec was founded in 1793 and makes up most of the geographical province of Quebec. The diocese has 39 parishes which serve 105 congregations. The issue of geography and language can contribute to much of the feeling of isolation that Anglicans in the diocese have to deal with. Many of the largest parishes in the diocese can be found on the Lower North Shore, on the Gaspe Peninsula, and on the Magdelan Islands. There is a large aboriginal parish in Kawawachikamach, which is a Naskapi village near the former mining town of Schefferville. The diocese continues to work on how to engage both the francophone and anglophone populations in a culture which does not take the church as seriously as it used to.

Pray for Archbishop Bruce Stavert (Archbishop of Canada), retiring 2009, Bishop Dennis Drainville, for the people and clergy of the diocese as they continue to work on how to provide pastoral care and support with decreasing resources; Pray for the work of the French speaking deanery of the diocese - ministry with French speaking people and Pierre Voyer, the Archdeacon of St. Laurent, Fr. Michel Royer, the Rural Dean, the Rev. Joanne Brosseau and all the clergy and people of the deanery.
The Anglican Parishes of the Central Interior includes the parishes and communities that were formerly within the jurisdiction of the Diocese of Cariboo. As a result of the costs of litigation arising from Residential Schools, Cariboo wound up its operations in 2001 and asked the Metropolitan of the Province of British Columbia and Yukon to give pastoral oversight. In 2003, the Assembly of the Central Interior asked the Provincial Synod for permission to elect a Suffragan Bishop to the Metropolitan with responsibility for pastoral care of the clergy and parishes. There are 16 parishes in this regional grouping which take care of 24 congregations. There are 11 full time clergy, 15 part time clergy and 62 Lay Ministers of Word and Sacrament who serve the people of these parishes.

Pray for the people (lay and clergy) and the person chosen as a new bishop for their region. Pray for the people and clergy as they engage in a year of discernment as to the way forward, exploring a different way to be church within the Anglican Church of Canada.

The Diocese of the Arctic is the largest geographic diocese in the Anglican Church of Canada. It covers an area of some 4 million square kilometres, one third of the landmass of Canada. It stretches from the Yukon border on the west through the Northwest Territories, Nunavut Territory, Nunavik (northern Quebec) to the border of Labrador. The Diocese of the Arctic came into being in 1933 after almost a hundred years of missionary work in the north. The first bishop of the Arctic was Bishop Flemming. There are 31 parishes (covering 52 congregations) in the diocese, of these 9 are self-supporting, and in all but 6 the native language is used as the primary language during worship. There are numerous languages spoken within the diocese.

Pray for Bishop Andrew Atogotaaluk and for Regional Bishops Larry Robertson and Ben Arreak. Pray for the people and clergy of the diocese. Pray for the future of the Arthur Turner Training School in Pangnirtung, which trains locally raised up people for ordained ministry in the diocese. Pray for the Cathedral parish of St. Jude, Iqaluit as it continues to work toward rebuilding of the cathedral. Pray for the Synod Office staff in Yellowknife and for the translation team.
The Bishops, General Synod Treasurer and Communications Director and one other diocesan representatives meet in the fall of each year; usually in late September or early October. At this meeting they discuss compensation for the clergy and lay workers of the Council dioceses, decide upon grant applications for special programs, and work together in planning for presentations and the future direction of the Council. The Council of the North reports to both the Council of General Synod and to the General Synod.

Pray for Bishop David Ashdown, Chair of the Council of the North, Bishop Jim Njegovan, Vice-Chair and for Bishop Mark McDonald, Secretary. Pray for the Council of the North as it works to strengthen the support made visible at General Synod in 2007 and those striving to provide pastoral and sacramental care in isolated communities in Canada's north may be fully supported in the work that they do.

The Diocese of Moosonee was founded in 1872 and as their website says, “occupies a special place within the mosaic of the Anglican Church of Canada.” It is the second largest diocese in the country. The diocese is situated in two provinces, northeastern Ontario and northwestern Quebec. More than half of the Anglicans living in the diocese are First Nations people; mainly Cree.

Pray for Archbishop Caleb Lawrence (Archbishop of Ontario), and for committed, confident, and flexible leadership, both lay and clergy, in filling ministry vacancies, and as ministry is realigned and consolidated in order to provide the full ministry of the Anglican Church throughout this scattered northern area. Pray for the diocese as it prepares to welcome new leadership following Archbishop Lawrence’s retirement in early 2010.
Diocese of Yukon
July, 2009

The Diocese of Yukon was formed in 1891 under the name of Selkirk and was renamed Yukon in 1907. The diocese covers the Yukon Territory and parts of northern British Columbia. It also covers some areas of Alaska when required. There are 15 congregations serving 24 communities. There are a total of 30 clergy and licensed lay workers who minister in the diocese. The diocese serves a multi-cultural society which includes 15 First Nations with 10 different language groups.

Pray for Archbishop Terry Buckle (Metropolitan of British Columbia and Yukon). Pray for the synod office staff, the people and clergy of the diocese and for the Diocesan Executive Committee. Pray that the vision for future direction of ministry in the diocese will be prayerfully established.

Diocese of Saskatchewan
August, 2009

The Diocese of Saskatchewan was founded in 1874. It takes up the upper two-thirds of the province of Saskatchewan. There are 68 congregations organized into 32 parishes. The majority of parishioners are Cree and speak one of three dialects of that language. Almost all the Cree parishes are served by Cree clergy. There are also many non-Cree people in the southern parishes. The diocese hosts James Settee College, which trains people for lay and ordained ministry, and a youth ministry camp at Emma Lake. The Suffragan Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Charles Arthurson, was in 1989 the first aboriginal bishop to be ordained a bishop in Canada. The diocesan bishop, the Rt. Rev. Anthony Burton, was the youngest bishop in the Anglican Communion when he was consecrated in 1993.

Pray for Bishop Michael Hawkins of the di, the new bishop of the diocese. Pray for the Diocesan Indigenous Council as they discern the future of indigenous ministry in the diocese. Please pray for the diocese’s vigorous youth ministries and for an increase in aboriginal vocations. Pray for all those from the Council of the North attending the Indigenous Sacred Circle in Port Elgin, ON.
